

NOT SATISFIED WITH HOW YOUR RIGHTS HAVE BEEN APPLIED?

1. First contact the shipping company that issued the ticket.
2. Briefly summarise your complaint – provide dates, any booking reference, details of anyone you may have spoken to and any relevant documentation.
3. Remember to keep a copy of your documents and to allow a reasonable period for investigation.

If you're not satisfied with their response, you can complain to one of the National Enforcement Bodies listed on the back page of the leaflet. Remember to provide copies of relevant correspondence.

Maritime passenger rights

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Mobility and Transport

Denied boarding? Cancellation? Long delay? Difficulties with purchasing tickets?

Whenever you travel by ship or ferry, your right to travel in safety and comfort is protected by the European Union. As a result, passengers enjoy more reliable and better quality maritime passenger services.

These rights apply to passengers travelling in the EU on large ferries and cruise ships on sea, rivers, lakes or canals.

NON DISCRIMINATION

You are protected against discrimination based on your nationality, place of residence or disability when you buy a ticket or during travel.

DISABLED PERSONS AND PERSONS WITH REDUCED MOBILITY

You have the same rights to travel as other passengers and you should be able to travel without difficulties at no extra cost.

Carriers and travel agents can only refuse to take you on-board if it is physically impossible given the size of the ferry or ship or doing so would breach established health and safety requirements.

If you're refused boarding for these reasons, you're entitled to reimbursement or re-routing. The carrier may require you to be accompanied by someone who can provide you with assistance; this person would travel free of charge.

We recommend that you notify the carrier, terminal operator, travel agent or tour operator of your assistance needs (e.g. that a guide dog travels with you) at least 48 hours before your journey. When booking the ticket, mention any specific needs regarding accommodation, seating, services, or medical equipment. If your mobility equipment is lost or damaged due to the fault of carrier or terminal operator, you must receive full compensation.

INFORMATION RIGHTS

Transport companies need to inform you about the ticket price, your rights and the circumstances of your journey both on departure and at appropriate stages of your journey. Accessible information will be provided if you're disabled or have reduced mobility.

If a ferry or cruise you have a ticket for is delayed or cancelled, the carrier or terminal operator must let you know the estimated new departure time and arrival time, or make reasonable efforts to inform you about alternative services within 30 minutes of the scheduled departure time.

ASSISTANCE IN THE CASE OF DELAY OR CANCELLATION

If your departure is delayed by over 90 minutes or it is cancelled, the carrier must offer you free snacks, meals or refreshments reasonable for the waiting time (if they are available in the terminal or can be reasonably supplied). If needed, you must also be offered up to three nights' accommodation (up to €80 per passenger per night) and transport to and from the place of accommodation.

The carrier does not have to arrange accommodation if the journey is delayed or cancelled by severe weather conditions endangering the safe operation of the ship.

RE-ROUTING OR REIMBURSEMENT IN CASE OF DELAY OR CANCELLATION

If your departure is delayed or cancelled by over 90 minutes, the carrier must offer you a choice between either:

- re-routing to your final destination at the earliest opportunity or
- reimbursement of the ticket price and a return trip to your first point of departure.

COMPENSATION IN CASE OF DELAYED ARRIVAL

If your arrival to the final destination is delayed, you might be entitled to compensation worth 25 % or 50% of the ticket price depending on the length of the delay.

You're entitled to compensation unless: you hold an open ticket, you've been informed of the delay before buying the ticket, the cause is within your control, weather conditions endanger the safe operation of the ship, or the cause is due to extraordinary circumstances.
